

R.A.F HAWKINGE

War Memorial

This memorial is a tribute to those men who served and the men that died whilst serving at R.A.F Hawkinge during the Second World War. It is located on the site of the former RAF base which has now largely disappeared and been replaced with a large private residential housing estate.

Yet another example of our country's proud heritage being demolished for the sake of greed!

The tribute does not list any individual's names.
